

A patriotic song competition was organized on 23rd August 2016 by the Music Society, in which large number of students participated in full enthusiasm.

The program was also attended by few invited guests from MNIT. The participants performed the most popular patriotic song compositions by master composers of Indian cinema. The performances of students were enthralling for the august audience. The competition was judged by Dr. Bandana Chakraborty, a well-known singer and Mr. Karan Singh, a dynamic music composer. Results for three best singers were announced based on the assessment of judges.

The program was also graced with patriotic song performances by the judges and few invited guests. The judges also interacted with the students and explained the intricacies of different ragas and Hindustani classical music.
